

Exercise 9: Reviewing a 'building study'

Work together as a group.

You will be given an example of a case study of a building featured in the AJ's 'Building Study' section.

Tasks

Compare the information it contains with your own list of the minimum information required for a case study	10 minutes
What is missing from the case study that's on your list?
What is present in the case study that's not on your list?
Why do you think these discrepancies have occurred?

Deliverables

1	A list of information you identified missing from journal
2	List of additional information published in journal
3	An explanation for any discrepancies
4	One member of the group prepared to give a 3 minute talk describing both your original list (Exercise 8) and your new findings from Exercise 9.
