EXHIBITION

Fire & Ice: A Photographic Journey of Antarctica is a collection of photographs taken by UCC geology professor John Gamble. The photos were taken by Gamble in the 1980s and 1990s while on fieldwork in Antarctica. The exhibition includes images of volcanoes, wildlife and a visit to the huts of Scott and Shackleton on Ross Island, which were the staging posts for exploration of the continent at the beginning of the 20th century.

The exhibition runs at Jennings Gallery, Brookfield Health Sciences Complex, UCC, from January 21-February 23. Gamble will give a seminar on Antarctica at 5.15pm on January 20, preceding the exhibition launch at Lecture Theatre G.05 in UCC's Brookfield Health Sciences Complex
