Online Teaching; Challenges and Advantages

As the world gets increasingly digitized, the move to online teaching not only become extremely common but also inevitable due to the current climate. To ensure e-learning is carried out effectively and constructively, lecturers need to use educational tools that can encourage and inspire. One of the biggest challenges that lectures face is maintaining and monitoring students' attention. Interactive tools could be a substantial help in facilitating student learning and conveying complex concepts if used properly and purposefully. In this presentation, I will illustrate some interactive tools that can be helpful to improve online teaching and make distance learning a fun experience.
