Conference Attended:

International Association for Medical Education (AMEE) annual conference 2018. Location: Basel, Switzerland

AMEE is a high impact medical education conference held annually in Europe. Experts in medical education research from around the world attend, speak and present at this meeting. Attendance at this conference provided me with an excellent opportunity to present my doctoral research to an international audience and also learn from experts by participating in workshops and attending keynote presentations. I also had the chance to network with peers and key researchers in the field of medical education which could lead to future collaboration.

A sincere thank you to the College of Medicine and Health for this bursary.
