JAMIE MADDEN – Department of Epidemiology and Public Health

Conference Attended: Eastern North America Region (ENAR) International Biometric Society Conference, Miami, Florida, 15th-18th March

Thanks to receiving a College of Medicine and Health doctoral student travel bursary I was able to attend the Eastern North America Region (ENAR) International Biometric Society Conference in Miami. This is one of the largest biostatistics conference held annually and presented a great opportunity to expose my current work to experts in the field.

This exposure allowed for interesting suggestions from other attendees which will be incorporated into my future work. In addition it gave me an opportunity to meet in person with individuals with whom our department are collaborating with on other projects and will hopefully lead to further collaborations.
