Conference Attended:

British Sarcoma Group Annual Conference. Birmingham UK, 27 & 28 February 2018

I attended the British Sarcoma Group annual conference 2018 in Birmingham, United Kingdom. This gave me an excellent opportunity to present my research to an international audience of clinicians and scientists. I gained valuable feedback and insights from other specialists in the field which would help in the direction of my future work. I also attended many lectures and presentations on clinical and laboratory research in sarcoma.

I would like to thank CoMH UCC for this excellent opportunity.
