Conference Attended: Society for Reproductive Investigation Conference Annual Scientific Meeting, Location: Montreal, Canada, 16th-19th 2016

I am grateful for this College of Medicine & Health travel bursary which allowed me to travel to Montreal in Canada this March to attend an International Women's Health Conference.

This conference attracts in excess of 1000 researchers from all fields in obstetrics and gynaecology from scientists to epidemiologists and clinicians every year. I had the opportunity to disseminate my research in an international multidisciplinary forum, engaging in discussion about it with a broad range of experts and networking. I attended relevant research seminars in the area of obstetrics, gynaecology and epidemiology.

Overall, this conference was a worthwhile experience, giving me an overview of current obstetric issues and expanding my research skills and my academic development.
