Conference Attended:

Eurodrying 2019, Turin, Italy
(<https://eurodrying2019.com/uk/>)
10th -12th of July 2019

Attending the Eurodrying 2019 was a valuable and formative experience. For the first time, I was attending a conference specifically focused on drying.

The scientific program featured varied topics, underlining the importance of novel and emerging drying approaches in different fields from pharmaceuticals, to food and art. It was very interesting to attend lectures from keynote speakers who are some of the most experts in the field.

I was absolutely honoured to be one of the speakers at this conference and to receive useful feedback about my work. The conference offered additional organised events that provided opportunities for future collaborations.
