

University College Cork, Ireland
Coláiste na hOllscoile Corcaigh

Press Book

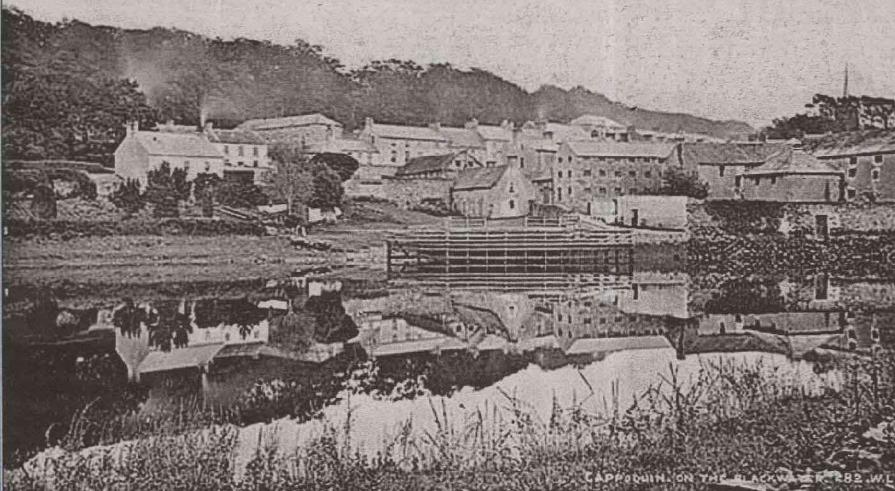

from 23.10.2015 to 03.11.2015

Table of Contents

| | | |
|------------|--|----|
| 23/10/2015 | Dungarvan Leader: Cappoquin Civic Link Notes..... | 3 |
| 27/10/2015 | Waterford News & Star: Dungarvan,..... | 4 |
| 23/10/2015 | Dungarvan Observer: Nasc cathartha Ceapach Choinn [...]..... | 5 |
| 27/10/2015 | Waterford News & Star: Revolutionary decade roadshow..... | 6 |
| 23/10/2015 | Dungarvan Leader: Revolutionary Decade Roadshow For Dungarvan..... | 7 |
| 23/10/2015 | Dungarvan Observer: Revolutionary Decade Roadshow for Dungarvan..... | 8 |
| 30/10/2015 | Dungarvan Leader: The 'Revolutionary Decade Roadshow' Arrives in Dungarvan!..... | 9 |
| 30/10/2015 | Dungarvan Observer: The 'Revolutionary decade roadshow' arrives in waterford!..... | 10 |
| 23/10/2015 | Dungarvan Observer: waterford country museum..... | 11 |
| 30/10/2015 | Dungarvan Observer: WATERFORD COUNTY MUSEUM..... | 12 |
| 23/10/2015 | Dungarvan Leader: Waterford County Museum Notes..... | 14 |
| 30/10/2015 | Dungarvan Leader: WATERFORD COUNTY MUSEUM NOTES..... | 16 |

Cappoquin Civic Link Notes

FORÓIGE BACK FROM THE ASHES

The great news from civic Link this week is that it looks like the local Foróige club has been resurrected and will function for a tenth year in a row after all. The disappointment of having so much of its property vandalised over the summer and the shortage of new leaders were making things look very doubtful for a long time. We are delighted to report that some new leaders have already completed training and a leaders' meeting is scheduled for this Wednesday, October 21st in the Parish Hall at 8 pm. The club itself should be up and running again soon after that.

If anyone else is interested in joining as a leader then do come along to the meeting this Wednesday night – it is an excellent means of getting some experience in youth work, and it's a great addition to anyone's CV too. All you need is enthusiasm, commitment and to be over 18.

HAVE YOU MEMORABILIA FROM 1916-21?

As part of Waterford's 2016 Programme of Events, we in Cappoquin are delighted to pass on the word that Waterford Council in conjunction with the School of History at UCC are hosting a Waterford's Revolutionary Decade Roadshow which will take place on Saturday October 31st in the Park Hotel, Dungarvan 11am. until 4pm.

The leading academic working on this project is Gabriel Doherty of UCC, and a more balanced and thorough historian would be hard to find, apart altogether from the fact that he is related by marriage to the family of a certain John Keane, of Mount Sion and Waterford hurling fame. No doubt Gabriel and his team will be delighted to hear from anyone with memorabilia of documentation from the revolutionary period, though perhaps a programme from the 1950 Mount Sion V Tourin county hurling final would interest him too.

TWIG BOG AND 'THE BIG SYCAMORE'

It was a real delight this week to be handed a copy of 'The Big Sycamore' to keep, while just walking down Main Street last weekend. A most sincere thanks to Eileen Prendergast of Mogeha, who can rest assured that the book will be treasured.

A major piece of Irish fiction when it appeared back in 1958, quite a bit of 'The Big Sycamore' is situated in part in Cappoquin, and we are sure that Mick and Jenny Fraher won't mind any passers-by in Mill Street going to have a look at the plaque in front of their house, commemorating the Browne family, one of whom was the author, known as 'Joseph Brady'. His description of the different processes of the wicker-working and basket trade, and of Twig Bog and Mill Street in Cappoquin during the 19th century is worth re-telling here:

'The sallies were brought to Mill Street from the banks of the Blackwater. Mrs Mary Meany, a daughter of Dick Mason, remembers Mill Street looking like an extension of the sally plantations, so crowded was it with willows piled high. These had to be graded according to size. Some, untreated, that is to say, left with their skins on, were sold as 'brown' sallies. They were made up as containers for bakers' yeast or pointed as scollops for thatching. Some were 'couched' – placed in heaps in definite order on the bed of the stream. Some were 'pitted' by being placed in bundles upright in water and spaced into bays. They stood in the pit from March until early summer. Some were 'pied' – the butts of the bundle laid on the ground, the upper portion resting on the next bundle, they were then covered with old leaves and skins of peeled sallies. For the seasoning of the sallies, so that the fibres might be toughened, a constant supply of fresh water was needed. The Fitzgeralds were happily supplied by the stream flowing past Mill Street and contained by a two-foot wall...'

This week's photo, from the famous Lawrence Collection, shows what this area of Cappoquin, by Twig Lane and Woodenbridge Lane, with its warehouses backing on to Mill Street behind, looked like around 1865. If this was a 'spot the difference' game, where would you start?

Dungarvan

COUNTY SCENE

ARD SCOIL NOTES

Last Friday, October 9th, Ard Scoil na nDéise held its 25th Annual Awards Night. Students, parents, teachers and distinguished guests were welcomed by the school's Irish Traditional Music group as they gathered in the Junior Hall for the special event. The evening was hosted by Mr. Tommy Collins, who made it quite enjoyable with his usual humour. Students were recognised for their participation in music, sports, art, public speaking, writing, elocution, German, volunteering and academic achievements. Our guest of honour for the evening was Ms. Doireann Conway, who made an interesting and inspiring speech for all. If there is one thing to take away from her speech, it is 'reach for the stars!' Closing remarks were made by Principal Mrs. Dorothy Hughes, who acknowledged the achievements and thanked all of the sponsors. Light refreshments were served by the Parents' Council in the Senior Hall after the awards ceremony (the highlight of the evening!). Amy Reynolds, TY.

Recently, we went orienteering in Kilkenny Castle. We headed off at 12 o'clock and arrived at the Castle around 2 o'clock. Once we got off the bus our teachers assigned us into pairs, we got our dibbers and maps then headed up to the instructor. He told us how to use the dibbers and what way to use the maps. We were all excited and eager to start the course. The course involved a lot of nature and beautiful walkways. Some areas were harder to find than others but overall it was a great experience, as for many of us it was our first time going orienteering. After the orienteering, we were all tired out, from running around the course. Just before we left we had a bite to eat and headed back on our journey. Denise Murray, TY

REVOLUTIONARY DECADE ROADSHOW IN DUNGARVAN

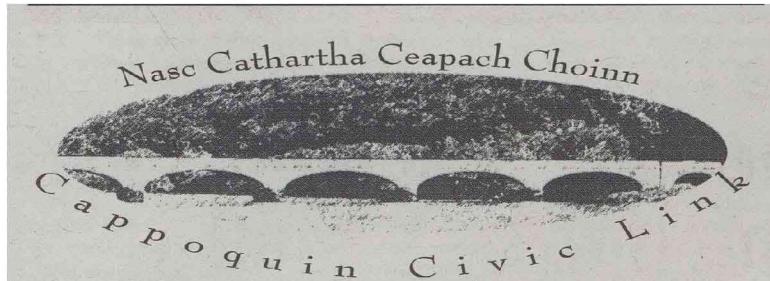

The School of History, University College Cork and Waterford City and County Council are pleased to announce that that a 'Revolutionary Decade Roadshow' will be held in the Park Hotel, Dungarvan, County Waterford, on Saturday 31st October 2015, from 11am-4pm.

The event - which is free, open to all and for which no pre-registration is required - follows on from the success of previous roadshows, which were held in Cork city and county, Muckross House Killarney, and the most recent event in Tralee.

The event is aimed at anyone who has an interest - whether personal or familial - in the history of the 'revolutionary decade' in modern Irish history, 1912-1923. Anyone who has any documents (e.g. official correspondence, private letters, diaries, pictures, etc.), stories, artefacts from that period - or indeed are simply interested in the events that took place during it - are invited to meet and discuss their material with professional archivists and expert historians, in a friendly, informal setting. Also present on the day will be a number of local and national historical groups with a particular specialism in this period, including the Irish Volunteers Commemorative Organisation and the Women's History Association of Ireland, among others. Members of the public can browse their exhibits, purchase commemorative items, register as members, and so on. Other stalls will offer for sale books relating to the period. Members of historical re-enactment groups, dressed in period attire, will also be present, as members of the IRA, Crown forces etc., and will deliver short talks 'in character' about their aims, their equipment, and so on. Finally, there will be a special participatory session devoted to younger members of the audience. The event organisers say that the event is being organised in response to public demand following the earlier roadshows. We are very keen to emphasise that the event is not just for the Waterford public, but it is by that public, for it is they - their memories, their artefacts, their documents, their interests - who are the stars of the show. It is no accident that many of the key individuals from that period, such as John Redmond and Richard Mulcahy, either hailed from Waterford, or had connections to it. So we wish to invite all the residents of Waterford city and county to come and talk with us, and with each other, about the role of the people of Waterford during those momentous years in the life of the county, and the country.'

Dungarvan Observer

FORÓIGE BACK FROM THE ASHES

The great news from Civic Link this week is that it looks like the local Foróige club has been resurrected and will function for a tenth year in a row after all.

The disappointment of having so much of its property vandalised over the Summer and the shortage of new leaders were making things look very doubtful for a long time.

We are delighted to report that some new leaders have already completed training and a leaders' meeting is scheduled for this Wednesday, October 21st, in the Parish Hall at 8.00 p.m. The club itself should be up and running again soon after that.

If anyone else is interested in joining as a leader then do come along to the meeting this Wednesday night – it is an excellent means of getting some experience in youth work, and it's a great addition to anyone's CV too. All you need is enthusiasm, commitment and to be over 18.

'The sallies were brought to Mill Street from the banks of the Blackwater. Mrs. Mary Meany, a daughter of Dick Mason, remembers Mill Street looking like an extension of the sally plantations, so crowded was it with willows piled high. These had to be graded according to size. Some, untreated, that is to say, left with their skins on, were sold as 'brown' sallies. They were made up as containers for bakers' yeast or pointed as scollops for thatching. Some were 'couched' – placed in heaps in definite order on the bed of the stream.

Some were 'pitted' by being placed in bundles upright in water and spaced into bays. They stood in the pit from March until early Summer.

Some were 'pied' – the butts of the bundle laid on the ground, the upper portion resting on the next bundle, they were then covered with old leaves and skins of peeled sallies.

For the seasoning of the sallies, so that the fibres might be toughened, a constant supply of fresh water was needed. The Fitzgeralds were happily supplied by the stream flowing past Mill Street and contained by a two-foot wall...'

This week's photo, from the famous Lawrence Collection, shows what this area of Cappoquin, by Twig Lane and Woodenbridge Lane, with its warehouses backing on to Mill Street behind, looked like around 1865.

If this was a 'spot the difference' game, where would you start?

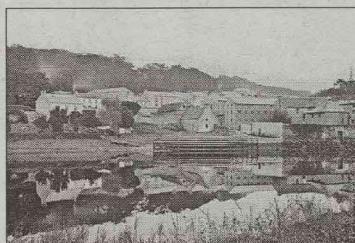

HAVE YOU

MEMORABILIA FROM 1916-'21?

As part of Waterford's 2016 Programme of Events, we in Cappoquin are delighted to pass on the word that Waterford Council in conjunction with the School of History at UCC are hosting a Waterford's Revolutionary Decade Roadshow which will take place on Saturday, October 31st, in The Park Hotel, Dungarvan, 11.00 a.m. until 4.00 p.m.

The leading academic working on this project is Gabriel Doherty of UCC, and a more balanced and thorough historian would be hard to find, apart altogether from the fact that he is related by marriage to the family of a certain John Keane, of Mount Sion and Waterford hurling fame.

No doubt Gabriel and his team will be delighted to hear from anyone with memorabilia of documentation from the revolutionary period, though perhaps a programme from the 1950 Mount Sion v. Tourin County hurling final would interest him too.

Cappoquin Twig Bog

TWIG BOG AND 'THE BIG SYCAMORE'

It was a real delight this week to be handed a copy of 'The Big Sycamore' to keep, while just walking down Main Street last weekend. A most sincere thanks to Eileen Prendergast of Mogeha, who can rest assured that the book will be treasured.

A major piece of Irish fiction when it appeared back in 1958, quite a bit of 'The Big Sycamore' is situated in part in Cappoquin, and we are sure that Mick and Jenny Fraher won't mind any passers-by in Mill Street going to have a look at the plaque in front of their house, commemorating the Browne family, one of whom was the author, known as 'Joseph Brady'. His description of the different processes of the wicker-working and basket trade, and of Twig Bog and Mill Street in Cappoquin during the 19th century is worth re-telling here:

Waterford News & Star

NEWS IN BRIEF

Revolutionary decade roadshow

THE School of History, University College Cork and Waterford City and County Council will host a 'Revolutionary Decade Roadshow' in the Park Hotel, Dungarvan, on Saturday next, October 31 from 11am-4pm.

The event, which is free, is open to all and no pre-registration is required. The event is aimed at anyone who has an interest - whether personal or familial - in the history of the 'revolutionary decade' in modern Irish history, 1912-1923. Anyone who has any documents (e.g. official correspondence, private letters, diaries, pictures, etc.), stories, artefacts from that period, or are simply interested in the events that took place during that time, are invited to meet and discuss same with professional archivists and expert historians, in a friendly, informal setting.

Dungarvan Leader

Revolutionary Decade Roadshow For Dungarvan

Are you interested in the history of the Easter Rising and the revolutionary decade (1912-1923) in modern Irish history? Would you like to meet and discuss with professional archivists and expert historians in a friendly informal setting? Do you have any documents stories pictures or artefacts from this period? If yes then come along to the Park Hotel, Dungarvan on Saturday 31st of October from 11 a.m. to 4.00 p.m. for Waterford's Revolutionary Decade Roadshow which promises to be a day of fun, local and interesting history.

Heritage Officer Bernadette Guest explained "The roadshow is the inaugural event of Waterford City and County Council's Programme for the 2016 Commemoration and is being hosted by the School of History, UCC in conjunction with the Archives and Heritage Officers of the Council. The event has received tremendous interest so far and is aimed not only at those with an interest in history but schools and community groups who may be looking for ideas on how to commemorate 1916 and other significant periods in the centenary commemorations." She went on to say "there will be something for all interests on the day with exhibition stands by groups such as the Irish Volunteers Commemorative Organisation, Women's History Association of Ireland, Munster Military Vehicles and Re-enactment Group who will stage a re-enactment between the IRA and the Crown Forces, Western Front Association, Waterford County Museum, Portlaw Heritage Centre, Mahon Bridge Local History Group, UCC School of History, Waterford City and County Council and the 1848 Tricolour Committee.

There will be music performances by Comeraghs Comhaltas and Cór Fear na nDéise and drama by Dungarvan Dramatic Group and Aisteoirí an tSean Phobail along with bite-sized historical talks on researching your family history and the War of Independence in Waterford. It really is a day not to be missed".

For further information on the event contact Bernadette Guest bguest@waterfordcouncil.ie or Gabriel Doherty, School of History UCC.g.doherty@ucc.ie 021 4902783.

Revolutionary Decade Roadshow for Dungarvan

ARE you interested in the history of the Easter Rising and the revolutionary decade (1912-1923) in modern Irish history? Would you like to meet and discuss with professional archivists and expert historians in a friendly informal setting? Do you have any documents stories pictures or artefacts from this period?

If yes then come along to the Park Hotel, Dungarvan on Saturday, 31st of October from 11 a.m. to 4.00 p.m. for Waterford's Revolutionary Decade Roadshow which promises to be a day of fun, local and interesting history. Heritage Officer Bernadette Guest explained "The roadshow is the inaugural event of Waterford City and County Council's Programme for the 2016 Commemoration and is being hosted by the School of History, UCC in conjunction with the Archives and Heritage Officers of the Council.

The event has received tremendous interest so far and is aimed not only at those with an interest in history but schools and community groups who may be looking for ideas on how to commemorate 1916 and other significant periods in the centenary commemorations."

She went on to say "there will be something for all interests on the day with exhibition stands by groups such as the Irish Volunteers Commemorative Organisation, Women's History Association of Ireland, Munster Military Vehicles and Re-enactment Group who will stage a re-enactment between the IRA and the Crown Forces, Western Front Association, Waterford County Museum, Portlaw Heritage Centre, Mahon Bridge Local History Group, UCC School of History, Waterford City and County Council and the 1848 Tricolour Committee.

There will be music performances by Comeraghs Comhaltas and Cór Fear na nDéise and drama by Dungarvan Dramatic Group and Aisteoirí an tSean Phobail along with bite-sized historical talks on researching your family history and the War of Independence in Waterford. It really is a day not to be missed".

For further information on the event contact Bernadette Guest bguest@waterfordcouncil.ie or Gabriel Doherty, School of History UCC g.doherty@ucc.ie 021 4902783.

WATERFORD'S REVOLUTIONARY DECADE ROADSHOW PARK HOTEL, DUNGARVAN

Saturday, October 31st, 11.00 a.m. – 4.00 p.m.

11.00 a.m. Welcome address by Tom Cronin, Mayor, Dungarvan and Lismore District; Opening address by Mayor of Waterford, Cllr. John Cummins Waterford City & County Council.

11.00 – 4.00 p.m. Exhibition Stands by Irish Volunteers Commemorative Organisation; Women's History Association of Ireland; Munster Military Vehicles and Re-enactment Group; Western Front Association; Mercier Press; Aubane Historical Society; Waterford County Museum; Portlaw Heritage Centre; Mahon Bridge Local History Group; UCC School of History; Waterford City & County Council; 1848 Tricolour Committee.

11.30 – 11.50 a.m. Performance by Comeraghs Comhaltas.

12.30 – 12.45 p.m. Cumann na mBan and Jenny Wyse Power- Áine Ní Fhoghlu.

1.00 – 1.30 p.m. Battle Re-enactment between Crown forces and IRA, staged by the Munster Military Vehicles Re-enactment Group.

2.00 p.m. – 2.20 p.m. Performance by Cór Fear na nDéise.

2.45 – 3.00 p.m. Researching your British Army Ancestry - Ger Crotty, Portlaw Heritage Centre.

3.15– 3.30 p.m. The War of Independence in West Waterford – Tommy Mooney.

3.30 p.m. Irene na Gealáí Drama performance by Aisteoirí an tSean Phobail.

3.45 – 4.00 p.m. Waterford's 2016 Com-memorations Programme; Joanne Rothwell, Archivist, Waterford City & County Council.

4.00 p.m. Event Concludes.

The 'Revolutionary Decade Roadshow' Arrives in Dungarvan!

THE PARK HOTEL, DUNGARVAN
31 October 2015, 11am-4pm

The School of History, University College Cork and Waterford City and County Council are pleased to announce that that a 'Revolutionary Decade Roadshow' will be held in the Park Hotel, Dungarvan, on Saturday 31 October 2015, from 11am-4pm.

The event – which is free, open to all and for which no pre-registration is required – follows on from the success of previous roadshows, which were held in Cork city and county, Muckross House Killarney, and the most recent event in Tralee, and which attracted international attention as a result of the discovery during them of the last known photographs of Michael Collins, taken just minutes before his death in west Cork on 22 August 1922.

The event is aimed at anyone who has an interest – whether personal or familial – in the history of the 'revolutionary decade' in modern Irish history, 1912-1923. Anyone who has any documents (eg official correspondence, private letters, diaries, pictures, etc.), stories, artefacts from that period – or indeed are simply interested in the events that took place during it – are invited to meet to meet and discuss same with professional archivists and expert historians, in a friendly, informal setting.

Also present on the day will be a number of local & national historical groups with a particular specialism in this period, including the Irish Volunteers Commemorative Organisation and the Women's History Association of Ireland, among others. Members of the public can browse their exhibits, purchase commemorative items, register as members, and so on. Others stalls will offer for sale books relating to the period. Members of historical re-enactment groups, dressed in period attire, will also be present, as members of the IRA, Crown forces etc., and will deliver short talks 'in character' about their aims, their equipment, and so on. Finally, there will be a special participatory session devoted to younger members of the audience.

The event organisers say: 'The event is being organised in response to public demand following the earlier roadshows. We are very keen to emphasise that the event is not just for the Waterford public, but it is by that public, for it is they – their memories, their artefacts, their documents, their interests – who are the stars of the show. It is no accident that many of the key individuals from that period, such as John Redmond and Richard Mulcahy, either hailed from Waterford, or had connections to it. So we wish to invite all the residents of Waterford city and county to come and talk with us, and with each other, about the role of the people of Waterford during those momentous years in the life of the county, and the country.'

For more information contact Gabriel Doherty in the School of History, UCC, at 021 4902783, or g.doherty@ucc.ie

Gabriel Doherty, UCC School of History, at the republican grave plot in UCC. Image: Tomás Tyner, UCC

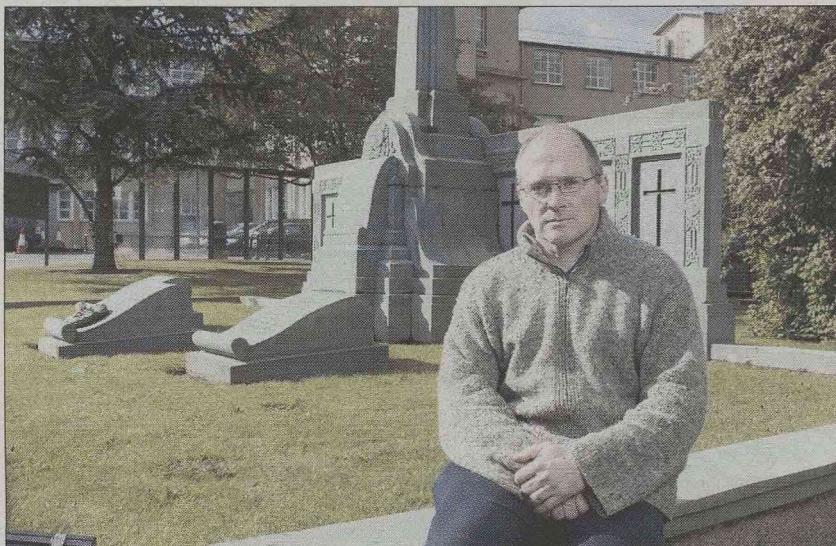

The 'Revolutionary decade roadshow' arrives in Waterford!

Park Hotel, Dungarvan
31st October, 2015, 11 a.m. - 4 p.m.

THE School of History, University College Cork and Waterford City and County Council are pleased to announce that a 'Revolutionary Decade Roadshow' will be held in the Park Hotel, Dungarvan, County Waterford, on Saturday 31st October, 2015, from 11 a.m.-4 p.m.

The event – which is free, open to all and for which no pre-registration is required – follows on from the success of previous roadshows, which were held in Cork city and county, Muckross House Killarney, and the most recent event in Tralee, and which attracted International attention as a result of the discovery during them of the last known photographs of Michael Collins, taken just minutes before his death in West Cork on 22nd August, 1922.

The event is aimed at anyone who has an interest – whether personal or familial – in the history of the 'revolutionary decade' in modern Irish history, 1912-1923. Anyone who has any documents (eg official correspondence, private letters, diaries, pictures, etc.), stories, artefacts from that period – or indeed are simply interested the events that took place during it – are invited to meet to meet and discuss same with professional archivists and expert historians, in a friendly, informal setting.

Gabriel Doherty, UCC School of History, at the republican grave plot in UCC. Image: Tomás Tyner, UCC.

Also present on the day will be a number of local & national historical groups with a particular specialism in this period, including the Irish Volunteers Commemorative Organisation and the Women's History Association of Ireland, among others.

Members of the public can browse their exhibits, purchase commemorative items, register as members, and so on. Others stalls will offer for sale books relating to the period. Members of historical re-enactment groups, dressed in period attire, will also be present, as members of the IRA, Crown forces etc., and will deliver short talks 'in character' about their aims, their equipment, and so on. Finally, there will be a special participatory session devoted to younger members of the audience.

The event organisers say: 'The event is being organised in response to public demand following the earlier roadshows. We are very keen to emphasise that the event is not just for the Waterford public, but it is by that public, for it is they – their memories, their artefacts, their documents, their interests – who are the stars of the show. It is no accident that many of the key individuals from that period, such as John Redmond and Richard Mulcahy, either hailed from Waterford, or had connections to it. So we wish to invite all the residents of Waterford City and County to come and talk with us, and with each other, about the role of the people of Waterford during those momentous years in the life of the County, and the country.'

For more information contact Gabriel Doherty in the School of History, UCC, at 021 4902783, or g.doherty@ucc.ie

WATERFORD COUNTY MUSEUM

OUR TALK AND LECTURE SERIES

Our talk on Ballyaggartmore House, Lismore on Wednesday night (October 14th), by the museum President, Mr. William Fraher was a great success. It was very well attended and it was a very enjoyable night.

Thank you to everyone who came along and participated. Thank you to Mr. William Fraher for delivering the talk with his usual eloquence and flair. Thank you to Thomas Phelan who sorted our technical problems. Continuing our series of talks and lectures, the next one will be taking place on November 11th, when we will have Bernadette Guest, County Heritage Officer with us.

The title of the talk will be Waterford Heritage – Plans and Projects. Bernadette will highlight some of the recent projects carried out under the current heritage plan and proposals for future projects on natural and cultural heritage in Waterford. She will also be looking forward to hearing ideas from the audience and plenty of audience participation. So it is a date for your diaries.

GALLOWS HILL EXHIBITION

Our next exhibition will be based on the recent Community Archaeology Project which was based on the Gallows Hill Motte and Bailey at Shandon. We hope to have a selection of photographs taken during the survey and film footage. We will also have a model of Gallows Hill, which is currently on display in the museum. There will be references to other historic sites around Dungarvan.

Keep an eye on the notes for dates regarding the opening of the exhibition and it will definitely be one not to be missed.

WATERFORD'S REVOLUTIONARY DECADE ROADSHOW

Waterford City and County Council Archivist, Joanne Rothwell and Bernadette Guest, Heritage officer are working with Gabriel Doherty from the School of History, UCC, to bring a Revolutionary Roadshow, which will highlight the revolutionary period 1912-1923 in Waterford city and county, to the Park Hotel, Dungarvan on Saturday, 31st October from 11 – 4 pm. Local history groups will have stands at the event and visitors on the day will have the opportunity to find out, not only about wider national events but also about what is happening in local parishes throughout the city and county. There will be exhibitions stands, talks, re-enactments and music performances held during the day and it will be open to the public as a free event.

In addition to ourselves there will be exhibitions by groups such as Irish Volunteers Commemorative Organisation, Portlaoise Heritage Centre, Waterford County Council, Mahon Bridge Local History Group and 1848 Tricolour Committee to name but a few. There will be performances by Comeraghs Comhaltas at 11.30 am and Cor Fáilte na nDeise at 2 pm. The welcome address will be by Tom Cronin, Mayor, Dungarvan and Lismore District at 11 am.

Venue: Park Hotel, Dungarvan

Date: Saturday, 31st October

Time: 11 am – 4 pm
AGM

Just a reminder that the AGM is taking place on Thursday, 29th October at 7.30 pm.

OLD PHOTOGRAPHS

If you have any old photographs of people, places, ships, sports events etc. we would be very happy to accept them. We would scan them and give you back the originals.

Looking ahead to the 1916 commemorations we would also be interested in any artefacts or photographs relating to that period.

VISITING THE MUSEUM

We welcome visits from schools, community groups, and local history societies. Please contact us at 058-45960 to arrange a visit. Let us know if you are interested in a particular subject and we will focus on that during the visit.

OPENING HOURS

Monday to Friday 10-5 p.m. Admission is free.

FIRST WORLD WAR

WATERFORD CASUALTY LIST FOR WEEK ENDING 21st OCTOBER

Hasker Edwards, 48, 3677, CQMS, Army, Yorks. Reg. 11Bn., Sunderland/Basly, Died, 10/16/15.

Murphy James, 26, 4985 Pr., Army, I.Guards. 2Bn, Chereadel?, Killed in action, 10/18/15.

Lecky John, 10051, Pr. Army, R.I. Reg. 2 Bn, Waterford, Killed in action, 10/20/15.

Fitzgerald Michael, 7556, Pr. Army, I. Guards. 1Bn, Clashmore, Wounds, 10/20/15.

Flynn William, 10079, Sgt Army, R.I. Reg. 2 Bn, Waterford, Killed in action, 10/21/15.

RATHGORMACK-CLONEA HISTORY & MEMORIES

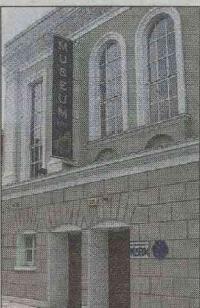

A new book is being launched on Sunday, October 25th at 7 pm in Rathgormack Hiking Centre with local historian Julian Walton. This book is a collection of articles, photographs and memories relating to Rathgormack, Clonea-Power and surrounding areas. It is written by Mossy Hunt and edited by Marie Cox and has been printed with the support of the local community.

All proceeds from the sale of the book will go to the Rathgormack-Clonea All Weather Pitch Fund.

An extensive collection of photographs from pre 1900's to the 1970's complete the book's vintage theme, with many photos of interest to those in surrounding areas.

This book will be a definite Christmas present option this year for all connected to the parish and those interested in the history of County Waterford itself.

Available at Eason's Dungarvan and Clonmel and all local shops after the launch, price €20.

WATERFORD COUNTY MUSEUM

WATERFORD'S REVOLUTIONARY DECADE ROADSHOW

Just a little reminder of the Revolutionary Roadshow which will be taking place in the Park Hotel On Saturday, October 31st. This roadshow is to highlight the Revolutionary period 1912-1923 in Waterford City and County. Visitors on the day will have the opportunity to find out, not only about wider national events but also about what was happening in local parishes throughout the city and county. Enjoy the experience and meet archivists and expert historians in a friendly informal setting.

There will be exhibition stands, talks, re-enactments and music performances held during the day and it will be open to the public as a free event. In addition to ourselves, there will be exhibition stands by groups such as Munster Military Vehicles and Re-enactment Group, Western Front Association, UCC School of History, Mercier Press and Portlao Heritage Centre, to name but a few.

There will be an opening address by Mayor of Waterford, Cllr. John Cummins and a welcome address by Tom Cronin, Mayor Dungarvan and Lismore District. There will be a performance by Comeraghs Comhaltas and also a performance by Cor Fear na nDeise.

It is an event not to be missed.

Venue: Park Hotel, Dungarvan.

Date: Saturday, October 31st.

Time: 11 am - 4 pm.

Admission is Free. The full programme of activities is available on our Blog.

A.G.M.

Just a reminder that the A.G.M is taking place on Thursday, 29th October at 7.30 p.m.

JULIA M. CROTTIE (1853-1930)

She was born in Lismore and educated by the Presentation Nuns and privately by Mrs. Lizzie Fitzsimon (1841-1921), whose father, Andrew Fitzsimon had an academy in Lismore. She later settled in Ramsey, Isle of Man and then moved to Chicago where she wrote for local newspapers and completed her novel The Lost Land. In 1890, she returned to Ireland. She lived in Waterford for a period and contributed articles to local papers and to Irish and American magazines such as The Catholic World, The Month and The Rosary. She was constantly in financial difficulty.

Her novels include:

Neighbours – Annals of a Dull Town. Published 1900

The Lost Land – A tale of a Cromwellian-Irish town, being the autobiography of Miss Anita Lombard 1780-87. Published London T. Fisher Unwin 1901

Innisdoyle Neighbours. Published 1920. This novel is believed to be set in Lismore.

Justin McCarthy made the following remarks on Crottie:

She passed her childhood in the lifeless atmosphere of an Irish town, where she received impressions rendered with sometimes appalling faithfulness in Neighbours and the Lost Land; has lived for some time in America; one of the few since (William) Carleton to show fearless realism in her portrayal of Irish character but that does not mean that she does not love her people and deal tenderly with them as well. (Irish Literature Vol. 11 1904)

The Munster Literature Centre's website describes her writing as 'closely observed tales of spiritual paralysis in rural Ireland' which includes 'satirical portrayals of embittered lives of would-be and returning emigrants'.

There is a collection of letters from her (1891-1913) in the Edmund Downey Papers in the NLI.

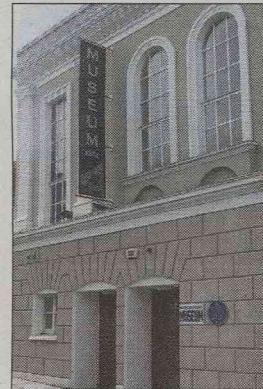

She died in 1930 and is buried in Lismore.

OLD PHOTOGRAPHS

If you have any old photographs of people, places, ships, sports events etc. we would be very happy to accept them. We would scan them and give you back the originals.

Looking ahead to the 1916 commemorations we would also be interested in any artefacts or photographs relating to that period.

FIRST WORLD WAR WATERFORD

CASUALTY LIST FOR WEEK ENDING 28TH OCTOBER.

Geary Patrick, 23, 3760
Pr. Army, I.Guards 1 Bn
Waterford, Killed in action,
10/22/15.

Power Michael, 30, 5824,
Pr., Army, I.Guards 2 Bn.,
Dungarvan, Killed in action, 10/23/15

Fitzgerald Richard, 25,
12337, P. Army, Gren
Guards, 4Bn., Faha, Killed in action, 10/25/15.

Kennedy Laurance, 18,
7763/100327, Pr. Army,
R.I.Rifles/R.F.A., Kilganey,
Died, 10/27/15.

VISITING THE MUSEUM

We welcome visits from schools, community groups, and local history societies. Please contact us at 058-45960 to arrange a visit. Let us know if you are interested in a particular subject and we will focus on that during the visit.

Opening Hours:
Monday to Friday 10-5pm.
Admission is free.

Dungarvan Observer*
Friday, 30 October 2015
Page: 37

AVE: 1,984€

Circulation: 10300
Area of Clip: 49600mm²
Page 2 of 2

Dungarvan Observer

Micheál Martin, leader of Fianna Fáil, and John O'Grady, from Aglish, pictured at the Waterford County Museum recently.

Waterford County Museum Notes

OUR TALK AND LECTURE SERIES

Our talk on Ballysaggartmore House, Lismore on Wednesday night (October 14th), by the museum President, Mr. William Fraher was a great success. It was very well attended and it was a very enjoyable night.

Thank you to everyone who came along and participated. Thank you to Mr. William Fraher for delivering the talk with his usual eloquence and flair. Thank you to Thomas Phelan who sorted our technical problems.

Continuing our series of talks and lectures, the next one will be taking place on November 11th, when we will have Bernadette Guest, County Heritage Officer with us.

The title of the talk will be Waterford Heritage – Plans and Projects. Bernadette will highlight some of the recent projects carried out under the current heritage plan and proposals for future projects on natural and cultural heritage in Waterford. She will also be looking forward to hearing ideas from the audience and plenty of audience participation. So it is a date for your diaries.

GALLOWS HILL EXHIBITION

Our next exhibition will be based on the recent Community Archaeology Project which was based on the Gallows Hill Motte and Bailey at Shandon. We hope to have a selection of photographs taken during the survey and film footage. We will also have a model of Gallows Hill, which is currently on display in the museum. There will be references to other historic sites around Dungarvan.

Keep an eye on the notes for dates regarding the opening of the exhibition and it will definitely be one not to be missed.

WATERFORD'S REVOLUTIONARY DECADE ROADSHOW

Waterford City and County Council Archivist, Joanne Rothwell and Bernadette Guest, Heritage officer are working with Gabriel Doherty from the School of History, UCC, to bring a Revolutionary Roadshow, which will highlight the revolutionary period 1912-1923 in Waterford city and county, to the Park Hotel, Dungarvan on Saturday 31st October from 11 – 4 pm. Local history groups will have stands at the event and visitors on the day will have the opportunity to find out, not only about wider national events but also about what is happening in local parishes throughout the city and county.

There will be exhibitions stands, talks, re-enactments and music performances held during the day and it will be open to the public as a free event.

In addition to ourselves there will be exhibitions by groups such as Irish Volunteers Commemorative Organisation, Portlaw Heritage Centre, Waterford County Council, Mahon Bridge Local History Group and 1848 Tricolour Committee to name but a few. There will be performances by Comeraghs Comhaltas at 11.30 am and Cor Fear na nDeise at 2 pm. The welcome address will be by Tom Cronin, Mayor, Dungarvan and Lismore District at 11 am.

Venue: Park Hotel, Dungarvan
Date: Saturday, 31st October
Time: 11 am – 4 pm

AGM

Just a reminder that the AGM is taking place on Thursday, 29th October at 7.30 pm.

OLD PHOTOGRAPHS

If you have any old photographs of people, places, ships, sports events etc. we would be very happy to accept them. We would scan them and give you back the originals.

Looking ahead to the 1916 commemorations we would also be interested in any artefacts or photographs relating to that period.

VISITING THE MUSEUM

We welcome visits from schools, community groups, and local history societies. Please contact us at 058-45960 to arrange a visit. Let us know if you are interested in a particular subject and we will focus on that during the visit.

OPENING HOURS
Monday to Friday 10-5pm.
Admission is free.

Dungarvan Leader*

Friday, 23 October 2015

Page: 61

AVE: 1,652.44€

Circulation: 7500
Area of Clip: 27100mm²
Page 2 of 2

Dungarvan Leader

FIRST WORLD WAR WATERFORD CASUALTY LIST FOR WEEKEND 21ST OCTOBER

| Surname | First Name | Age | Service No Rank | Service | Unit | Where Born | Death Category | Date of Death |
|------------|------------|-----|-----------------|---------|------------------|------------------|------------------|---------------|
| Hasker | Edwards | 48 | 3677 CQMS | Army | Yorks. Reg.11Bn. | Sunderland/Basly | Died | 15/10/1915 |
| Murphy | James | 26 | 4985 Pr. | Army | I.Guards.2Bn | Chereadel? | Killed in action | 17/10/1915 |
| Lecky | John | | 10051 Pr. | Army | R.I.Reg.2 Bn | Waterford | Killed in action | 19/10/1915 |
| Fitzgerald | Michael | | 7556 Pr. | Army | I.Guards.1Bn | Clashmore | Wounds | 19/10/1915 |
| Flynn | William | | 10079 Sgt | Army | R.I.Reg.2 Bn | Waterford | Killed in action | 20/10/1915 |

Dungarvan Leader

WATERFORD COUNTY MUSEUM NOTES

Waterford's Revolutionary Decade Roadshow

Just a little reminder of the Revolutionary Roadshow which will be taking place in the Park Hotel On Saturday, October 31st. This roadshow is to highlight the Revolutionary period 1912-1923 in Waterford City and County. Visitors on the day will have the opportunity to find out, not only about wider national events but also about what was happening in local parishes throughout the city and county. Enjoy the experience and meet archivists and expert historians in a friendly informal setting.

There will be exhibition stands, talks, re-enactments and music performances held during the day and it will be open to the public as a free event. In addition to ourselves, there will be exhibition stands by groups such as Munster Military Vehicles and Re-enactment Group, Western Front Association, UCC School of History, Mercier Press and Portlaw Heritage Centre, to name but a few.

There will be an opening address by Mayor of Waterford, Cllr. John Cummins and a welcome address by Tom Cronin, Mayor Dungarvan and Lismore District. There will be a performance by Comeraghs Comhaltas and also a performance by Cor Fear na nDeise.

It is an event not to be missed.
Venue: Park Hotel, Dungarvan.
Date: Saturday, October 31st.
Time: 11 am - 4 pm.
Admission is Free.

The full programme of activities is available on our Blog.

A.G.M

Just a reminder that the A.G.M is taking place on Thursday, 29th October at 7.30 pm.

Julia M. Crottie (1853-1930)

She was born in Lismore and educated by the Presentation Nuns and privately by Mrs. Lizzie Fitzsimon (1841-1921), whose father, Andrew Fitzsimon had an academy in Lismore. She later settled in Ramsey, Isle of Man and then moved to Chicago where she wrote for local newspapers and completed her novel The Lost Land. In 1890, she returned to Ireland.

She lived in Waterford for a period and contributed articles to local papers and to Irish and American magazines such as The Catholic World, The Month and the Rosary. She was constantly in financial difficulty.

Her novels include:
Neighbours – Annals of a Dull Town. Published 1900
The Lost Land – A tale of a Cromwellian-Irish town, being the autobiography of Miss Anita Lombard 1780-87. Published London T. Fisher Unwin 1901

Innisdoyle Neighbours. Published 1920. This novel is believed to be set in Lismore.

Justin McCarthy made the following remarks on Crottie:

She passed her childhood in the lifeless atmosphere of an Irish town, where she received impressions rendered with sometimes appalling faithfulness in Neighbours and the Lost Land; has lived for some time in America; one of the few since (William) Carleton to show fearless realism in her portrayal of Irish character but that does not mean that she does not love her people and deal tenderly with them as well. (Irish Literature Vol. 11 1904)

The Munster Literature Centre's website describes her writing as 'closely observed tales of spiritual paralysis in rural Ireland' which includes 'satirical portrayals of embittered lives of would-be and returning emigrants'.

There is a collection of letters from her (1891-1913) in the Edmund Downey Papers in the NLI. She died in 1930 and is buried in Lismore.

Old Photographs

If you have any old photographs of people, places, ships, sports events etc. we would be very happy to accept them. We would scan them and give you back the originals.

Looking ahead to the 1916 commemorations we would also be interested in any artefacts or photographs relating to that period.

Visiting the Museum

We welcome visits from schools, community groups, and local history societies. Please contact us at 058-45960 to arrange a visit. Let us know if you are interested in a particular subject and we will focus on that during the visit.

Opening Hours

Monday to Friday 10-5pm.
Admission is free

