

Maritime History Conference

'A safe place for ships': Cork, Ireland, Europe and the Sea

University College Cork

Friday, 28 November – Saturday, 29 November

Main Campus: Electrical Engineering BLDG, L-1, UCC

Ireland is an island nation, with a rich maritime heritage. This conference will explore its sea-going past and culture, along with that of its European neighbours.

Topics will include: the Vikings; piracy; the Spanish Armada; international trade; the Napoleonic War at sea; island nations; emigration; port cities; Lusitania; WWI submarine warfare

Confirmed speakers include: Prof Eric Grove (Liverpool Hope Univ.); Prof Donnchadh Ó Corráin (UCC); Prof Michela D'Angelo (Univ. of Messina); Dr Simon Mercieca (Univ. of Malta); Prof Claire Connolly (UCC); Prof Jürgen Elvert (Univ. of Cologne); Dr Susan Flavin (Trinity College Dublin); Dr Connie Kelleher (Nat. Monuments Service/UCC)

Free Admission, No Registration Required

Organised by Dr Hiram Morgan (h.morgan@ucc.ie) and Dr John Borgonovo (j.borgonovo@ucc.ie),
School of History, University College Cork

Funded by the Irish Research Council's New Foundations Scheme