

“Civilization is a tradition from the past, a miraculous construction made by our fathers of which they knew the vulnerability better than we do, hard to come by and easily lost.”

John Maynard Keynes

How to Pay for the War, Collected Writings, 1940: 155

SEPTEMBER

